

The above is a screenshot of an e-mail sent to all the pupils in my DiDA class to inform them of the impending coursework deadline.

This is one way I communicate with pupils, in my class, who I cannot get hold of immediately or will not see for the remainder of the week.